FOLLOWING JESUS IN BOSSIER: A NOTE FROM THE PASTOR

Rev. Donnie Wilkinson, Senior Pastor

Planting Trees for Generations to Come

A few weeks ago, I came across a photograph that I have found myself returning to again and again.

As the hallways were being repainted, we needed to move the heritage display cases containing photographs and artifacts from our church's long and proud history. While the cases were being emptied, I discovered an aerial photograph of our campus (pictured inside) taken shortly after the sanctuary was completed. The photograph is undated, but my best estimate is that it was taken in the spring of 1980.

What caught my attention was something I did not notice at first.

Only after looking carefully could I make out the faint shadow of one of the oak trees lining John Wesley Boulevard. The majestic trees that now welcome us to our campus were then little more than saplings.

Forty-six years ago, members of this congregation had the vision to plant those trees. They understood that the choices they made in their time could bless people they would never meet. They planted, tended, and protected something whose full beauty they might never see.

There is an old proverb:

"A society grows great when people plant trees under whose shade they know they shall never sit."

I would amend it slightly:

A church grows great when its members plant trees under whose shade they know they shall never sit.

I am proud to serve a congregation that has embodied this kind of greatness throughout its history.

At its July meeting, our Church Leadership Team took two courageous steps that I believe will bless First United Methodist Church and our community for generations to come. In a very real sense, they planted two more trees. (Continued inside)

CHILDREN'S MINISTRY

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT OUR STAFF AT OFFICE@FUMCBOSSIER.ORG

Hello First Families!

We have HUGE news for our littlest disciples!

The Children's Ministry Committee has been hard at work dreaming, brainstorming, researching, and praying about the direction God wants our church to grow as we minister to children and families. Our overall goal is to create a welcoming, inclusive, safe, and Christ-centered family ministry that nurtures children, supports parents, and builds authentic relationships within our congregation and our community.

To help make this vision a reality, we wrote and submitted a grant proposal to the United Methodist Foundation of Louisiana on July 1 for $26,613. Just two weeks later, we received the incredible news that our grant was approved—in FULL!

God is so good!

This grant will help us:

- Launch Godly Play as our primary children's ministry curriculum, encouraging spiritual formation through storytelling, wondering, and response.
- Develop Grace Space, a sensory-friendly worship environment where children who become overwhelmed can remain connected to the worship service alongside their caregivers.
- Recruit and train volunteers for our Buddy Ministry, providing individualized support for children with extraordinary needs.
- Host monthly Freezer Meal Ministry gatherings, where families can assemble nutritious meals together—blessing participating families as well as those experiencing hardship.
- Offer quarterly Parents' Night Out events, providing affordable childcare while creating opportunities for fellowship and connection among families.
- Host an annual Christmas celebration for military families, honoring and encouraging the military families who are part of our community.
- Implement a secure digital children's check-in system, helping us improve safety, communication, and hospitality.

But now that we have the resources to begin bringing these hopes and dreams to life, we need YOU!

To grow our children's ministry and connect with families in our congregation, our community, and our military community, we need to grow our team of volunteers. We need leaders, teachers, buddies, helpers, and—most of all—prayers.

In the weeks ahead, we will be sharing more opportunities for you to get involved. We invite you to prayerfully consider where you might fit into this exciting vision. There will also be opportunities to donate materials, including items such as toilet paper tubes, plastic bottle caps, and other supplies.

This is just the beginning of something exciting!

God has opened the door, and we can't wait to see where He leads us next. Together, we can create a children's ministry where every child feels welcomed, every family feels supported, and every heart has the opportunity to grow in faith. Big things are happening for our little hearts!

BACK TO SCHOOL

I can't believe it's already time for a new school year! Summer has been such an incredible season for our student ministry. From mission trip and VBS to Christian Community Experience and everything in between, we have seen God at work in so many ways. We are so thankful for the memories made, the friendships strengthened, and the faith that has grown throughout the summer. My prayer is that everything we experienced together will shape our school year. This month, we are excited to welcome our new 6th graders into the youth ministry! We have a full month of Sunday night activities, including Mission Night and our annual Cereal Bowl event. As the school year begins, we are praying that our students would grow in wisdom, build meaningful friendships, and continue to deepen their relationship with Christ.

FAITHFUL FAVORITES

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT OUR STAFF AT OFFICE@FUMCBOSSIER.ORG

Each month, we highlight a podcast, book, song, or other resource to encourage reflection, growth, and connection in your faith journey. Whether it's music that uplifts, a book that inspires, or a podcast that sparks conversation, our monthly pick is chosen to nourish your spirit and spark meaningful moments in your life. July's pick is from Donnie Wilkinson.

Stories That Help Us See Our Neighbors

Some books entertain us for a season. Others remain with us, returning at unexpected moments and quietly shaping how we see the world.

One book I have found myself returning to recently is Ken Follett's The Pillars of the Earth. Set around the construction of a great cathedral, the novel is filled with ambition, conflict, faith, failure, and perseverance. What has stayed with me most is the way the cathedral becomes more than a building. Its construction draws people together, creates meaningful work, strengthens the local economy, and becomes a source of renewal for the entire community.

The cathedral is not built apart from the life of the town. It helps give the town a new life. That vision has influenced how I think about the church and its place within a community. Our buildings and grounds are not simply assets to maintain. At their best, they can become places where relationships form, gifts are discovered, neighbors are welcomed, and new possibilities take root.

Another book shaping my thinking is Rod Dreher's The Benedict Option. I disagree with many of Dreher's culture-war arguments and some of the conclusions he draws from them. Yet the book's broader theme continues to challenge me: renewal often begins when people commit themselves to intentional communities of practice.

Healthy communities are not sustained by ideas alone. They are formed through shared rhythms—prayer, hospitality, learning, service, meals, work, worship, and life together. When these practices are rooted in a particular place and sustained over time, they can begin to renew not only the people who participate in them but also the neighborhoods around them.

That conviction subtly shapes much of my approach to ministry. I believe the church is called to become a community in which people learn and practice a way of life shaped by Jesus—and then carry that life into the places where they live, work, learn, and serve.

I am also looking forward to seeing Christopher Nolan's The Odyssey. Earlier this year, I read Jonathan Shay's Odysseus in America, along with his earlier work, Achilles in Vietnam. Shay, a psychiatrist who worked extensively with veterans, places the experiences of modern service members in conversation with Homer's ancient epics.

Together, the books helped me understand more deeply that returning home from war is not always the end of the journey.

The battle may be over, but the effects of war can remain for decades. Homecoming can be complicated by grief, moral injury, trauma, isolation, and the difficulty of returning to a community that may not understand what a person has experienced. Odysseus' long journey home becomes a way of thinking about the equally difficult journey of learning how to belong again. (Continued on the next page)

Living in a community shaped so profoundly by Barksdale Air Force Base, these books have helped me better appreciate the sacrifices made not only during military service but also long afterward. They have reminded me that supporting service members, veterans, and their families requires more than gratitude. It requires patience, understanding, friendship, and communities willing to walk alongside people through the long work of coming home.

These books are quite different from one another, but each asks a similar question:

What kinds of communities help human beings become whole?

Sometimes renewal begins with the building of a cathedral.

Sometimes it begins around a shared table or within a community committed to common practices.

Sometimes it begins when someone who has carried the burden of war discovers that they do not have to make the journey home alone.

Those are questions, and possibilities, I find myself returning to often.

Planting for Financial Strength

The first is the creation of the First United Methodist Church Permanent Endowment through the United Methodist Foundation of Louisiana.

To establish the endowment, our church will transfer $5,000 from funds we already hold at the Foundation. Through the Foundation's Endowment Match Program, that contribution will be matched with an additional $5,000, allowing the new endowment to begin with a balance of $10,000.

Because this is a true endowment, the principal will remain permanently invested, while the income it generates will be available to support the church's ministry for generations to come. (UM Foundation of Louisiana)

The Church Leadership Team has also committed church resources to match the first $200,000 in new gifts made to the permanent endowment. This means that every dollar contributed during the matching period can become two dollars invested for the church's long-term mission.

In the coming weeks, we will share more information about the endowment and how you can participate. The earnings will be directed toward the church's most strategic missional opportunities, as determined by the Church Leadership Team.

This is more than a savings account or a reserve for emergencies. It is a way of planting resources today so that future generations can continue renewing the life of our community by helping people of all ages become fully alive in Christ.

Planting for Missional Renewal

The second tree is a new partnership with Wesley Community Development, an organization that helps churches reconnect with their communities and make more effective use of their property and other resources.

Over the coming months, Wesley will help us take an honest, data-informed look at our church and its possibilities. Their work will include studying how our buildings and campus are currently used, examining the financial sustainability of different options, analyzing demographic and geographic trends in our community, and identifying potential ministry opportunities connected to both our existing facilities and undeveloped property.

Their findings will help church leaders discern faithful, practical next steps for the future of our campus and mission.

This partnership does not begin with a predetermined development plan. It begins with careful listening, good information, prayerful discernment, and a willingness to ask what God may be inviting us to do next. (Continued on the next page)

A Future with Hope

During the first several months of my time as your pastor, much of our attention necessarily went toward stabilizing our ministries, strengthening our operations, and addressing immediate needs. Important work remains ahead of us. Yet these two decisions represent a significant turning point.

They are declarations that we will not merely preserve what previous generations built.

We will build upon it.

They are declarations that our best days are not behind us.

They are declarations that this church has a future filled with hope as we join God's work of renewing all things—beginning right here in our neighborhood.

Nearly half a century ago, faithful people planted oak trees along John Wesley Boulevard. Today, we gather beneath their branches, enjoy their beauty, and receive the welcome created by their shade.

Now it is our turn to plant.

Grace & Peace, Donnie

FIRST IMPRESSIONS TEAM UPDATE

The First Impressions Team has been hard at work, and we're excited to share the progress being made around our church campus!

- Stanley Steemer has cleaned and sealed the tile throughout our hallways, with the exception of the Children's Wing and Choir Wing.
- The same hallways have received a fresh coat of paint on the walls, doors, and trim.
- New handrails have been installed to improve safety and accessibility.
- The sanctuary pews have been removed and thoughtfully repurposed to provide seating for those with mobility challenges and special needs.
- The Connection Café has been completely refreshed with an updated look and is nearing completion.
- The exterior of the Adult Wing has been power washed, and exterior painting is scheduled to begin on Monday, July 20, weather permitting.
- We are currently working with an electrician on plans to enhance our exterior lighting, including lighting for the beautiful oak trees and the front of the church.
- We are also gathering estimates for updated interior and exterior signage.

We are so grateful for the patience and understanding of our congregation throughout these projects. We know there have been scheduling challenges, temporary inconveniences, and a little extra chaos along the way, and your support has meant so much.

A special thank you goes to Joe Fowler, Bill Hensley, Don Digilarmo, Gary Hackman, Ginny Hackman, Jack Ihle, and Josh Tyra for their hard work removing and repurposing the sanctuary pews.

We also want to recognize Don Digilarmo and Josh Tyra for installing the beautiful paneling in the Connection Café. It has completely transformed the space and looks incredible!

Thank you to everyone who has volunteered their time, talents, and energy. What a blessing it is to be part of such an amazing community of believers, working together to make our church a warm and welcoming place for all.

A WORD FROM THE PRAYER ROOM

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT OUR STAFF AT OFFICE@FUMCBOSSIER.ORG

The first words most parents teach their children when they receive a gift or a kindness are, "Thank you." It is a first lesson in praising the gift. How often do we say, "Thank You, God," or "Thank You, Jesus," when our very lives are in the hands of either? When we praise God, our focus is on Him, not self. Psalms presents many examples of giving praise and thanks to God.

People everywhere encounter trouble and sorrow. Through prayer, we are enabled to reach out to them, thereby recognizing the power of God. The praying person, by the very act of asking God to change a situation, is recognizing that they are involved. The prayer is acknowledging the power of God while recognizing that they are the lesser; yet they would not be a part of this unless hope and trust were evident.

A spirit of thankfulness for the outcome affects the prayer, which is, in itself, a form of praise in which all are involved. Praise and thankfulness go hand in hand. It brings God nearer.

"Thank You, God."

Give thanks to God—He is good, and His love never quits.
